

Romantic Road Trip for The Active Adventurer

DESTINATION

Road trip to Celtic Quest Coasteering in West Wales.

If your date is an adventurer, plan a road trip to the stunning Pembrokeshire Coast National Park for Celtic Quest Coasteering. Here, you and your date can bond over activities such as cave exploring, cliff jumping and sea level traversing.

Once you've both dried off, head to a traditional Welsh coastal pub such as The Sloop Inn for some delicious food, including locally caught fish.

Explore Pembrokeshire Coast National Park by taking the minor road from St Davids through Rhodiad-y-Brenin – it starts off as the B4583 heading north from the A487 which makes for a stunning road trip.

IN CAR ENTERTAINMENT

Podcasts to listen to – Wild Ideas Worth Living by and Travel Tales by AFAR.

Playlist – Listen to 'Classic Road Trip Songs', 'Songs to Sing in the Car' or Red Hot Chili Peppers – Californication album on Spotify.

Easy Car-Versations – Ask your date to tell you about the best adventure they've ever had and places they would like to explore (Tip: Make a mental note of these for future date planning).

DRINKS AND SNACKS TO FUEL YOUR ADVENTURE

Most importantly – fill up a couple of bottles of water.

Pack some protein bars so you're all ready to go once the adventures start.

Make up a flask of your dates' favourite hot drink – you might need it after the water activities.

ESSENTIALS

- » Pack plenty of towels (make sure to bring enough for yourself and your date)
- » A change of clothes
- » Raincoats

TIPS

1. Make sure to give your car a clean (inside and out!) before picking up your date
2. Be honest – don't let your adventurous date pressure you into any activity you're not comfortable with
3. Plan in advance – make sure you book everything prior to the date, you do not want to disappoint them!
4. Be prepared for rainy weather
